

To whom it may concern:

I am writing on behalf of Bram Moreinis. Bram has served as an educational consultant for Educational Collaborators since 2011 and has helped advise schools on professional development and technology design. We recently hired Bram directly to develop a sophisticated web based catalog and professional development management system. The system required the creation of a catalog of service offerings searchable by category and keyword. It also required a management system for professional development "credits" that could be shared among schools within districts. This presented a challenging design. Bram was up for the challenge and delivered with creativity, collaboration and professionalism.

In our bid process for this engagement, not only did Bram present competitive pricing, he presented the most thoughtful and creative proposal. Bram likes to develop within the Drupal platform. This open source platform presents enormous opportunities but requires a person deeply connected to the community to evaluate how to best leverage existing solutions. Bram's knowledge of the Drupal community allows him to quickly identify modules to use on his client's behalf. This radically speeds development time and reduces cost. We found his connections in this field extremely valuable in our project.

Bram's creativity is also noteworthy. He does not simply tie together existing solutions for his clients. He brings his critical mind to every project and develops creative ways to apply existing solutions in new ways. Bram is excellent at re-contextualizing the question before developing a solution. Though it sometimes takes a bit to "catch-up" with his creative mind, he almost always brings a better solution than the client even can envision.

I confidently recommend Bram as a website solution designer. He is fast, creative, and collaborative. I wish you the best in your evaluation and welcome the opportunity to speak with you regarding Bram's quality work.

Sincerely,
